

Jean Monnet Module FAQ

1. What is the Jean Monnet Module?

It's a special course supported by the EU that focuses on topics about Europe, its policies, and integration.

2. Who organizes it?

The Module is run by Catholic University "Our Lady of Good Counsel", with professors and guest experts leading the activities.

3. How long will it last?

The Module runs for three years, with regular lectures, seminars, and events each year.

4. What are the main deliverables of the Module?

The key deliverables include:

- A cycle of lectures
- Research papers
- Open lectures
- A questionnaire
- A project website

5. Who can participate in the lectures and seminars?

The activities are open to students, academics, professionals, and the wider public who are interested in European Union studies, depending on the nature of the deliverable (e.g., open lectures vs. classroom teaching).

6. What will I get from it?

You'll gain knowledge about the European Union, improve critical thinking, and access unique teaching materials and research results.

7. What kind of activities can I join?

You can attend lectures, join seminars, take part in open events, and even contribute to surveys and research.

8. Do I need special requirements to join?

No. The Module is open to people from different backgrounds. Interest in European issues is enough!

9. Will there be online resources?

Yes. This website will share teaching materials, research papers, and updates about events.

10. Can I use the Module for my studies?

Yes. The Module will enrich your coursework, inspire new research ideas, and give you valuable insights into EU matters. In addition, the university will issue an official certificate of attendance, formally recognizing your participation in the activities.

11. Is there any cost for participation?

No. Participation in the Module's activities and events is free of charge.

12. Why should I join?

It's a chance to learn more about Europe, meet people with similar interests, and take part in discussions that go beyond the classroom.